

Data-driven Business Analytics graduate student with experience in data analysis, business intelligence and predictive modelling. Skilled in translating complex datasets into actionable insights using Python, SQL, Tableau/Power BI and statistical techniques, with a strong foundation in machine learning, automated reporting and stakeholder-focused analytics.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Amit Cot Fiber   Data Analyst   Pune, India                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Sept 2023 – Dec 2024 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Analysed monthly B2B cotton sales, revenue and profit data across multiple products and cities to identify pricing and margin improvement opportunities using Excel, SQL and Python</li><li>Conducted product-wise and city-level demand analysis to uncover distribution gaps and high-performing markets, supporting more efficient supply planning decisions</li><li>Automated monthly performance and KPI reporting pipelines using Python and SQL, streamlining recurring analysis workflows and reducing manual effort</li><li>Designed and maintained interactive Power BI dashboards to track sales vs. profit performance, improving product distribution efficiency by 10–12% through demand-aligned insights</li><li>Collaborated with sales and operations stakeholders to deliver data-backed recommendations, contributing to an 8–10% increase in revenue</li><li>Reduced data preparation time by 20% while improving data accuracy and reliability of executive-level reports through dataset validation and process standardization</li></ul> |                             |
| Let's Grow More   BI Developer Intern   Pune, India                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Mar 2022 – Apr 2022  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Designed and hosted interactive Tableau dashboards using SQL db, improving KPI visibility &amp; increasing stakeholder usability by 15-20%</li><li>Validated complex datasets &amp; KPI logic through cross-functional collaboration, resolving data discrepancies to ensure high-integrity reports</li><li>Streamlined BI workflows and dashboard validation processes, reducing report turnaround time by 20–25%</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                             |

ACADEMIC PROJECT EXPERIENCE

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| End-to-End Retail Sales Analytics &amp; Demand Modelling                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Oct 2025 – Dec 2025 |
| Technologies: Python, Pandas, NumPy, Statistical Modelling, Machine Learning (OLS, Lasso, Ridge, Elastic Net)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                            |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Prepared model-ready retail datasets by cleaning 167K+ records, handling missing values and engineering 54 predictive variables</li><li>Achieved high predictive accuracy of 89% by analysing pricing, promotion and distribution effects using EDA and regression models</li><li>Delivered data-driven pricing and promotion recommendations that supported recovery from a 30% sales decline</li></ul>                                          |                            |
| San Francisco Employee Compensation Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Feb 2025 – May 2025 |
| Technologies: SQL (SQL Server, MySQL), SSMS, SQL Workbench, Bash, Power BI                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                            |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Cleaned and standardized 700K+ compensation records using Bash and SQL, improving data accuracy and reporting speed</li><li>Delivered business-ready workforce metrics by transforming and querying data in SQL Server (SSMS) for cross-functional analysis</li><li>Enabled data-driven workforce decisions by building interactive Power BI dashboards to visualize compensation trends and distributions</li></ul>                              |                            |
| AI-Powered Recipe Recommendation System (RAG-Based)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Dec 2025 – Mar 2026 |
| Technologies: Python, ChromaDB, Sentence Transformers, Streamlit, OpenAI API                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                            |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Developed an end-to-end Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) system to answer natural language recipe queries using a custom dataset</li><li>Built optimized data pipelines for text chunking, embedding generation, and vector storage in ChromaDB, improving retrieval accuracy</li><li>Designed an interactive Streamlit-based chat interface to deliver real-time, context-aware recipe recommendations and enhance user experience</li></ul> |                            |

EDUCATION

|                                                                             |                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| The University of Texas at Dallas                                    | Expected Dec 2026   |
| Master of Science, Business Analytics, Dean's Excellence Scholarship |                            |
| Pune University, India                                               | Jun 2019 – Aug 2023 |
| Bachelor of Engineering, Computer Science                            | GPA 8.98            |

SKILLS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Programming Languages: Python, R, SQL, HTML                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Tools &amp; Platforms: Advance Excel, Tableau, Power BI, Jupyter Notebook, Microsoft SQL Server, Git, Oracle Cloud Infrastructure, Snowflake                                                    |  |
| Big Data &amp; Cloud Platforms: Hadoop (HDFS, Yarn), Spark (PySpark, Spark SQL), Hive, AWS, Docker                                                                                              |  |
| Libraries &amp; Frameworks: Pandas, NumPy, Matplotlib, Seaborn                                                                                                                                  |  |
| Machine Learning &amp; Statistics: Data Preprocessing, Machine Learning Algorithms, Data Visualization, Business Intelligence, Predictive Modelling, Prescriptive Analysis, Advanced Statistics |  |

CERTIFICATIONS

|                                                                                                                                           |  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Oracle, OCI Data Science Professionals</li><li>AWS, AWS Database Foundation</li></ul> |  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|